Red, white and blue house numbers

Valley drive on for bicentennial promotion

How does a red, white and blue house numper grab you? Painted on the curb And in front of every house in town?

The project is virtually underway thriughout the valley, and as the prelude to "having red, white and blue house numbers throughout the East Bay and even the entire state." That is the intent of the "Young American Bicentennial Promotion Agency."

The cost will be p2 per household, although that would be "a voluntary contribution" to the local bicentennial fund. The commercial firm's package actually pays 30 percent of all such collections to the local committee; 30 percent to the local Boy Scouts "or whoever we get to do the actual painting"; and 40 percent to the firm which will "provide the paint, the stencils, the training and the collecting "

Some members of the Pleasanton Bicentennial Commission have mixed feelings about the entire venture, particularly "the prospect oe rd, white and blue paint splattered all over town," as Charlotte Severin, chairperson for the Festival Sub-committee put it. The steering commission finally opted for a plan that would require the painters to first get each homeowner's permission before the stenciled numbers are affixed to the curb But even that plan is subject to city council approval, and a final vbte of the full PBC.

Livermore Bicentennial Committee is less nervous about thething, and actually hopes to "identifb every house number in the city" in the three-color curb job. "After all," explains Gib Marguth on behalf of the Livermore committee, "the curbs are the property of the city. We think it should be a community-wide thing." If Livermore council approves, the city will be awash with patriotic house numbers.

"I personally like the idea of a total city effort," says Ken Mercer, who heads up the Pleasanton bicentennial program, "but we don't want to appear to be forcing anything down the people's throats. There are bound to be a few residents who resent red, white and blue house numbers on their curb."

The Pleasanton steering committee did cop out on one other colorful proposal, however. "We want no part of painting the fire hydrants throughout the city," the committee decreed.

The curbside house number plans will go before the two city councils later this month. The Alameda County Bicentennial Commission has already given its approval for the unincorporated hts (including Dublin) and will receive ten percent nf the gross in those areas.

Dude ranch opponents to appeal

Six of the seven plaintiffs in a suit to block Bill Apperson's proposed dude ranch in the sun drenched Sunol hills will file an appeal to overturn an Alameda County Superior Court ruling denying their writ of mandate.

The Sierra Club, Preserve the Area Ridgelands Committee, Tri-City Ecology Center, Regional Parks Association, Endangered Species Committee of California and Sherman Lewis, a Cal State University, Hayward, professor, will proceed with the appeal.

Representatives of the League of Women Voters could not be reached for confirmation of rumors they, too, would follow suit in the appeal.

Bay Area League President Jeri Stewart was to release a prepared statement Friday on behalf of all seven plaintiffs, but she could not be contacted.

The appeal will attempt to overturn Alameda County Superior Court Judge Lyle Cook's denial of a writ of mandate, and should be filed sometime in October in the District Court of Appeals in San Francisco. That appeal could take nearly two years.

The Sierra Club will commit its legal defense fund and proceed with "whatever action necessary" to force the appeal, according to local chapter president Diane Hunter.

Regional Parks Association spokeswoman Maxine McCloskey told The Times her organization had not voted on the matter, but there was "no reason to think we won't continue with the appeal." A vote should be taken Tuesday night.

She was "glad to know the (Sierra Club) chapter is continuing on," she said.

Sierra Club attorney Owen O'Donnell said the Endangered Species Committee, Tri-City Ecology and Sherman Lewis all agreed to join the appeal.

Lydiksen students, Connie Droogas and David Lyons, made their T.V. debut by interviewing Yul Brynner.

Valley students interview star on 'Newsroom 6' show

It was totally quite now, the potential young reporters had rehearsed their lines and were prompted on what to do in front of the television cameras.

The phone rang, it was the secretary of the celebrity asking if they were ready for "him" to come upon the scene. Immediately upon receipt of the word, "he is on his way," ohhs and ahhs were heard and one young inspiring reporter asked, "where is the bathroom, my stomach feels funny, I think I'm going to be sick!"

It was too late for anyone to be concerned about anyone being ill for "he" was now entering the room. "Can we please open some windows in here," came the request from the celebrity.

"We can't," replied another nervous reporter, "my hair will blow all over my face."

"That's one problem I don't have," came the reply from Yul Brynner, the celebrity the aspiring reporters would be interviewing for their T.V. debut.

The setting was the Cliff Hotel in San Francisco where the "star" is appearing in the San Francisco Civic Light Opera, "Odyssey" in a nearby theatre.

The reporters were youngsters from the Valley whose schools are involved in the television program, "Newsroom 6."

Newsroom 6 is an educational project which serves to teach young people about the medium of television and the dissemination of news. Students produce a weekly television news program, styled after a regular adult newscast, in which they broadcast the latest news to their communities.

The program is performed entirely by sixth graders. School Districts participate, as a whole, and all sixth grade classes in the District take turns appearing. The format is designed to give every student a job on the show. Everyone gets on television sometime during the production.

The format consists of world and national news, entertainment news, sportr and school news. A "clock jester" from time to time, pops out of the face of a grandfather clock and makes "timely" comments about the news. He is a "gimmick" to help hold audience attention. Each show also includes a celebrity interview.

This year, so far, besides Brynner, the students will be interviewing the Oakland A's, and Assemblyman Floyd Mori. Other well known personalities are also being contacted.

The Newsroom 6 project began in September, 1974, in Walnut Creek through the cooperation of Dr. Elmo R. Giulieri, superintendent of the Walnut Creek School District, General Electric Cablevision, the Dow Chemical Company and the show's producer, Elizabeth M. Frandsen.

Because of its success, the project came to the attention of the Moraga School District and this year, the Murray School District and San Ramon Distrhct are hoping to participate.

The Murray School District news project premieres Sept. 27 at 9 a.m. on KEMO-TV, Channel 20, San Francisco and will continue for 26 consecutive Saturdays. The San Ramon School District programs will begin sometime later in the school year and will also be aired over Cablevision of Moraga, Channel 6.

Presently Murray is only partially sponsored for the program, but there are hopes of finding other sponsors in order to continue the program.

Sponsors of the news program receive two one-minute commercials and "open and close" credits on each weekly newscast. Cable stations re-run each program once or twice. Anyone interested in assisting the Murray news program, should contact Joann Cozart at 462-2251.

Each school district that participated in the recording at the Cliff Hotel (Murray, San Ramon, Moraga and Walnut Creek) had two students participating. Connie Droogas and David Lyons represented the Murray District while Jim Temple and Brian Friedel were the representatives for the San Ramon District.

Each participant prepared ten questions to ask the celebrity, with a time period of three and one half minutes. The camera man gave the "go" signal and Mrs. Frandsen kept a watchful eye on her youths to help them relax, give them encouragement and to give the signal to "wind it up."

The most popular question, asked by each group, was; Why did you shave your head?"

"I did it on the advise of my maid, Irene Sherrif, who was the costume designer for the "King and I," Brynner smilingly replied.

"At that time," he continued, "I had long hair and a mustach like some people have today, but it was not fashionable then as it is now. First we cut it very short," he said, "with poodle clippers, then decided to go all the way and shaved it with a razor. Needless to say," he told the interviewers, "my wife was shocked when I came home."

In reply to the question, "What is the greatest movie you ever made?," Brynner replied, "My next movie is always the greatest movie. You have to think this way so each time your perform you do better than the last." Brynner did, however, expound on the movie, "The Magnificent Seven" which he felt was an "excellent movie" and enjoyed playing the part of the bandit.

Brynner went on to state that he feels his hardest movies are always the easiest to make as he has to work harder and gets more involved. "When the part comes too easy," he said, "you can become tired and bored and there is nothing worse because you begin to lose the feel of the part."

Brynner was a warm, friendly, outgoing person with the children who he seemed to enjoy. He did his best to help them relax and was quite open on all questions asked of him. After the final taping, he was also most patient in handing out autographs to the now relaxed group. Some even came back for a second signature for their "brother" or "sister."

Participation in Newsroom 6 has enabled students to gain a new awareness of current events, interest in news, education in the importance of language skills, exposure to all the different careers existing in the news and performing fields and adds poise.

Reports 'inadequate'

Sewer plan delayed

The long-awaited expansion of sewer capacity in the west end of the valley will be delayed at least another nine months, according to Environmental Protection Agency spokesman Paul Perez.

Perez' statement came in the wake of a letter to the Valley Community Services District and the city of Pleasanton from EPA stating that the two agencies' Enivronmental Impact Reports (EIRs) on the proposed expansion were inadequate.

Therefore, the letter from Sheila Prindiville went on, the EPA will have to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) on its own before the project can be undertaken.

However, Perez did tell the assembled parties Friday at the VCSD offices that the EPA would definitely announce whether it would fund expansion of the sewer capacity next summer, immediately after the final version of the federal EHS was complete.

Perez' announcement of even more delays drew a decidedly negative response from representatives of VCSD, Pleasanton, Livermore, the Bay Area Sewer Services Agency, Alameda County and the State Water Control Board gathered to hear his explanation of Prindiville's letter.

He also said "At this point, the information doesn't lean toward a separate plant for Pleasanton," which may have been the death kneil for Pleasanton's dreams of its own plant.

The EPA's delay on a final decision on whether the valley will have expanded sewer capactiy also may affect the $65 million suit filed by developers against VCSD and Pleasanton for not living up to the 1972 agreement — which grew out of a Pleasanton commitment to supply utilities to developers who needed them.

Perez said that the VCSD and Pleasanton EIRs were inadequate for three reasons. First, the law authorizing EPA requires it to do a federal EIS any time significant controversy exists over an issue.

"There is a significant amount of controversy here" Perez said.

Second, the two EIRs do not deal sufficiently with air quality in a critical air basin such as the valley. "They (the EIRs) would certainly be adequate for 90 per cent of the projects in the state of California" Perez commented, but added that they were not quite complete enough for this valley.

The final point was that the EIRs did not deal specifically with mitigation measures for air quality problems associated with expansion of sewer treatment facilities, and thus of population.

However, Perez said that most of the EIRs will go directly into the federal EIS, thus cutting down the preparation time to three to five months from the normal one year plus.

"The only work that will be redone are the mitigation measures, perhaps the odor problems and land disposal of effluent" said Perez. He added that the EPA will pay the total cost of preparing the federal EIS.

Perez outlined the procedure as follows:

1. Acceptable levels of air pollution have already been determined;
2. The lifestyle of certain communities can be estimated and thus additional population pollution can also be estimated;
3. The EPA will supply a list of possible mitigation measures to local agencies for anticipated air quality problems;
4. The local agencies will select those measures they deem practical and they can live with;
5. The EPA will then determine how much of the additional pollution caused by the sewer expansion will be mitigated by the local agencies' measures and;
6. A decision will be made on whether to fund the project.

However, Perez said the size of the project will also not be determined until the end of the procedure.

Since many of the pollution problems in the valley are caused by outside agencies, Perez was asked whether the grant applicants — VCSD and Pleasanton — would be responsible for actions of agencies like BART or BASSA or Contra Costa County.

Perez indicated that efforts to obtain mitigation measures might count with the EPA, but that the issue wasn't clear. "The case of an applicant trying his best and failing has yet to come up" Perez said.

Perez consistently maintained that the EPA is not interested in making any decisions on mitigation measures — he said that the local agencies can make any decision they want, and after those decisions are made, the EPA will determine whether to fund the project.

"Projects are going ahead" Perez stated firmly, but added "those that are able to solve their problems. Those that cannot solve their problems can't move."

Pleasanton says that the capacity in the valley must reach at least 8 million gallons a day (MGD) of sewage treatment capacity, and that its outmoded sewage treatment plant on Sunol Boulevard must be phased out. Presently, VCSD's plant is at 4 mgd, with expansion up to 5 mgd expected in the near future.

VCSD board president Lila Euler pointed out that the decision of the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency to pipe valley effluent to the East Bay Dischargers' Association (EBDA) outfall means that VCSD and Livermore now process too much for the pipeline.

She feels that with the lowered standards (since the effluent will not go into Alameda Creek) VCSD might be able to pump 6 mgd at its present size.

Perez was uncertain about EPA's reaction, but he did point out that the constant delays have had some benefits. "If we had moved earlier, we may have provided more treatment than necessary" he said.

In terms of the final resolution of this valley's seemingly endless sewer problems, that was the only positive note sounded at the two-hour long meeting.

Strike threat grows as Chabot talks fail

Negotiators for Chabot College teachers and the South County Community College Board of Trustees met Friday only to split farther apart on cost of living salary increase demands.

"It was like getting splashed with cold water," a surprised Milt Tanner, chairman of the Certificated Employes Council (CEC) said of the talks.

"What we have is an offer less than what was offered last time for most teachers, and slightly more for a few teachers," he said.

Tanner described the offer as a cost of living raise for 91 teachers between $1,300-$1,500, and from $509-$1,513 for the other 133 faculty members.

The board's last offer was a straight $1,300 across the board increase, 6.6 per cent of the average Chabot teacher's salary. Tanner said he hadn't computed the percentage of the latest offer, but described it as "patently unfair."

Talk of a strike at this time is premature, Tanner said, but added that "Every day that goes by without a settlement, a strike draws nearer."

Negotiators for both groups meet again Wednesday, Sept. 17 to try and iron out the salary differences. Tanner said a teachers' meeting would be held the next day to discuss any progress reached at the negotiation session.

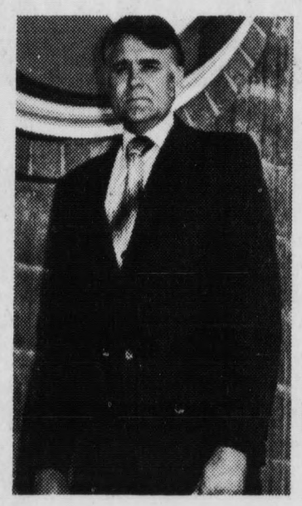
Livermore to review parking

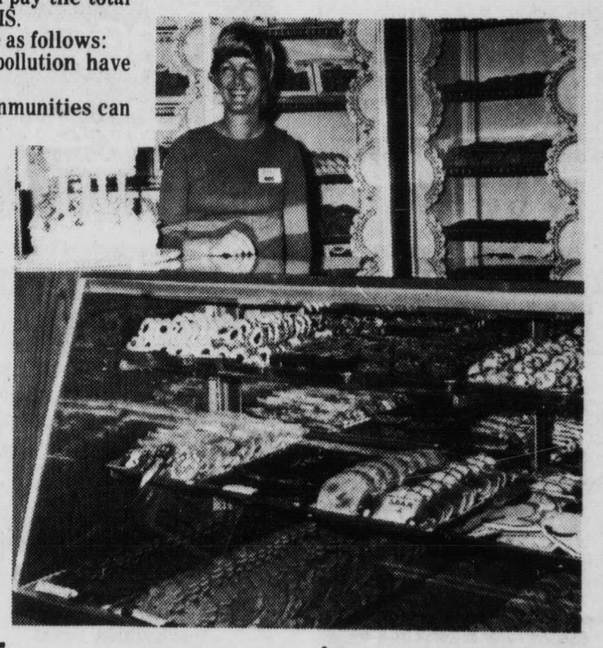
LIVERMORE — Bobbi Silva, one of the main forces behind the creation of the downtown merchants committee, urges all downtown retailers to attend Monday night's city council meeting when the parking situation in the central business district will be discussed.

The newly-formed merchants committee has been gearing up for tomorrow night, reviewing the city's past stands on parking and alternatives for financing the parking lot behind First Street.

Although some city staff reports on off-street parking have been drawn up, the city manager has indicated they should be regarded as status reports only with the matter brought up again at the Oct. 13 council meeting.

Council meetings begin at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Court Chambers, 39 S. Livermore.





Safeway opens today

Valley rail wreck

A derailed westbound Southern Pacific boxcar left its wheel carriage by the wayside when it clipped a PG&E power pole on Stanley Boulevard east of Shadow Cliffs Park shortly after 4 p.m., Friday. The car came to rest about 50 yards down the line PG&E repairmen said service was interrupted for perhaps 30 minutes while power was rerouted. By 6 p.m. the repair crew was busy drilling a new post hole. The broken pole, fractured just above ground level, had been installed just last week. No one was injured in the mishap

Murray board to re-examine public relations in district

The Murray Elementary School District Board of Trustees will re-examine their official Public Relations Policies at their Monday night meeting at 8 at Cronin School in Dublin.

Board President Bob Foster had asked for the reappraisal of the policies earlier this year. They deal primarily with relationships between the community and the schools and how to get the citizens more involved with MESD.

The board will also hear a report on the new state curriculum adoptions for math and social studies. The state chooses a wide variety of approved textbooks from which each teacher may then take his or her choice.

Also, the staffing report for the coming school year will be analyzed.

The lease for Hoyfjellet Lodge in the Sierras will also be discussed. Hoyfjellet Lodge is used for the popular Outdoor Education program.

Unhappy teachers may also make a presentation at the meeting. The Certificiated Employes' Council declared an impasse in negotiations last week over salary, instructional supplies and the grievance procedure.

The next step is a fact-finding committee on the issues, after which negotiations will resume. No strike is anticipated, however.

Pleasanton council to hear appeal on hill road denial

PLEASANTON — Councilmen Monday night will consider the appeal of a planning commission decision that denied Dr. Howard Long's request to build a private street on the upper portion of his hillside subdivision.

The decision was reached by commissioners after a marathon session that lasted into the small hours of the morning Aug. 5.

City staff has recommended denial of the appeal, which would require a modification of city law.

The city contends the proposed road would be too steep and too narrow for the safety of those who would live in 10 estate lots in the 50-acre section of Longview.

The road would wind for 1,700 feet through the rugqed bluffs of Pleasanton Ridge at a 20 percent grade, and would be 18 feet wide.

The steepest portions of Santos Ranch Road, by contrast, have the same grade but are much wider.

The city earlier this year denied a tentative map for the 10 lots, but Alameda County Superior Court Judge John Sparrow later ordered the city to hold a hearing on Long's request.

As a result, a court reporter wa^ present for the marathon session and minutes of the meeting are extensive.

Monday night's special council session has been scheduled an hour earlier than usual — 7 p.m. — to allow more time for discussion. It will be at the Pleasanton Justice Court, 30 W. Angela St.

Dublin hill housing challenged

The controversial proposal to put 57 homes on Old Church Hill (just south of St. Raymond's) in the Silvergate area of Dublin will be considered Monday afternoon at 1:30 by the Alameda County Planning Commission in Hayward.

Ward-Ryder Company is proposing to put 57 single family homes on 6,500 square foot minimum lots on the 12.28 acre parcel somdtimes called Dublin Green.

Originally, Ward-Ryder had planned to develop over 60 homes in a cluster situation on the land, but spirited opposition by the Silvergate Homeowners' Association and some questions about the density apparently caused the downward shift.

However, the SHA is still opposed to the development, on the grounds that the rest of the homes in the area are on 7,000 square foot minimum lots, and they would like to see Dublin Green conform to the neighborhood standards.

Two plots of land along Foothill Road near Santos Ranch Road will also be considered by the planners. The two — one of 35 acres and one of 17 acres — are presently zoned for residential with one acre minimum building sites.

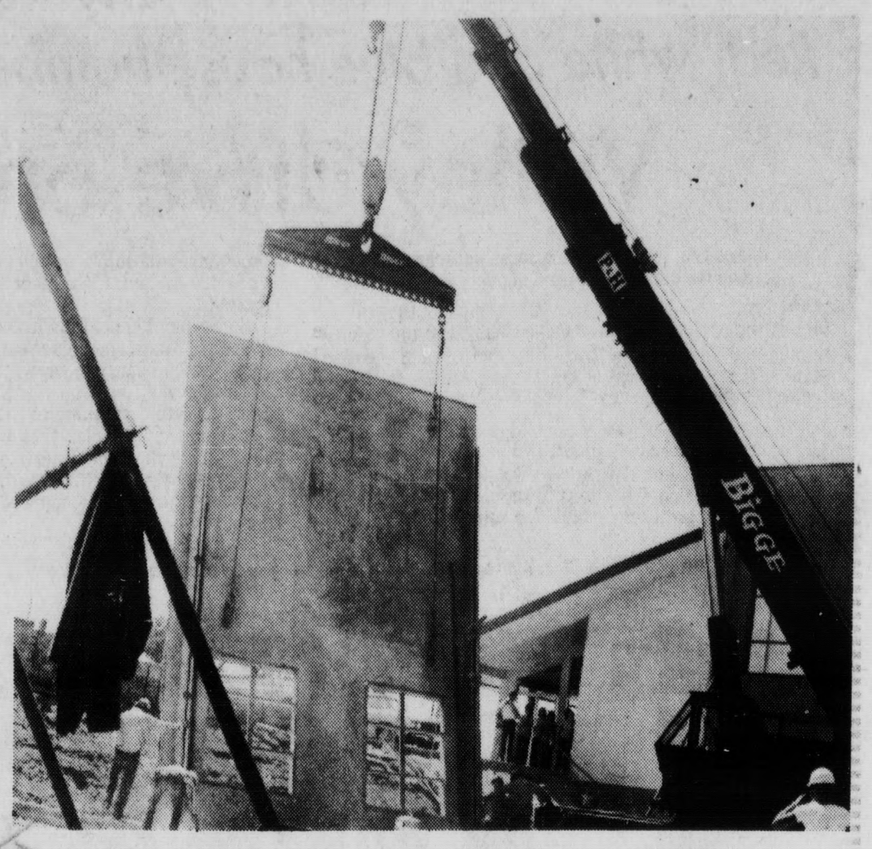
However, the board of supervisors two years ago asked the planning commission to check all plots of land that had little likelihood of public utilities and rezone them as necessary. The planners recommended that these two retain their one acre zoning.

However, the supervisors disagreed (by a 3-2 vote) and asked the planners to rezone the property for larger minimum plot size.

The planners may uphold their original decision but the supervisors will then have the right to size it any way they want without a referral back to the planners.

The planners will also take more public testimony on proposed additions to the county general plant. The four are the conservation element, the safety element, the seismic safety element and the noise element.

The commissiomn also will consider changing the mobile home occupancy statute, which now allows mobile home occupancy only in state-approved mobile home parks or on construction sites for only one year.



New parochial school

The Valley will have another parochial school this spring, when Calvary Temple at 2200 Arroyo Road, Livermore, completes this new, two-story building designed to become an elementary school. Currently, 47 kindergarteners and first graders are being taught in rooms within the church itself. The new building will contain an upstairs auditorium which may be converted to classrooms in the future. All the walls were raised Thursday as a knot of congregation members looked on. The Rev. John Warren is pastor.

Anthropos foundation

Major psychology center settles in Livermore

LIVERMORE — A major East Bay center for psychology is opening on Catalina Avenue.

Valley residents will have at their doorstep a variety of seminars, courses, projects and even a singles group — all connected with "Anthropos Foundation," a nonprofit group.

First evidence of the ambitious new project is a big blue brochure which is going to some 13,000 homes not only in the valley but in Berkeley, Oakland, San Leandro, Walnut Creek and other communities.

The brochure lists 24 programs which will be offered this fall — everything from "Mixing," informal Friday evening singles gatherings, to assertiveness training weekend workshops.

No two offerings are alike. One of the first to begin is called "The Real Man." It will be held 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, beginning Sept. 15.

Under the direction of Keith Moseley and Dorris Fagan, participants will look at long-cherished myths about what it means to be a "real man" in today's society.

They will discuss how men can have and share feelings, problems and concerns and still maintain their strength as males. Practical experience in assessment and communication will be provided so effective learning extends beyond the group.

The sessions run through Oct 20. Fee is $10 per session or $50 for the six-session series.

Also starting soon is assertiveness training, an experience which is catching on all over California. According to instructor Dorris Fagan: "Participants learn what their rights are and how to practice some simple strategies for coping with conflict and for developing and enhancing close relationships. Confidence developed by learning how to be positive about needs and wants and acting from a position of self-esteem and personal power."

This series is for women and is offered Tuesdays, 10 a.m. to noon or 1-3 p.m. Cost is $10 per session, $50 for the series.

"Transition: Looking Forward" kicks off Tuesday evening, 7:30 p.m. Instructor Fagan promises "a sensitive study of problems and solutions" to major transitions such as divorce, separation, death and aging.

A staff from all over the Bay Area offer individual counseling as courses in everything from storytelling to sex therapy to food abuse discussions to a creativity workshop.

It all happens at 1818 and 1814 Catalina Court (off Holmes Street) in Livermore, in a modern office suite that will be used as a meeting place for all groups.

"Anthropos," the Greek word meaning "human being," was chosen for the name of the foundation that is an umbrella organization for all the programs.

Director Lynn Bieber and co-director Jim Ellis (she is formerly with the Livermore school district, he with Valley Youth Services) decided to form the nonprofit foundation so people with degrees in counseling and an interest in a wide variety of areas could legally practice as staff members under their supervision. The system allows students and trainess to practice semi-professionally, while at the same time enablingk Valley residents who would like private or group counseling to get it at low rates.

"Anthropos" is managed by a corporation headed by Lynn Bieber's husband, Stan.He collects a fixed rate from counselors for each hour they use the Catalina Avenue office. Out of the money collected, he pays the rent and utilities, buys furnishings and keeps the books.

Advantages to those on the staff are numerous: they can avoid renting an expensive professional office they only occasionally use and avoid all the complicated record-keeping involved in running their own offices.

Meanwhile, they have the publicity of a colorful, consolidated brochure and the good image of an established corporation — as well as the support and companionship of a large group of colleagues in the foundation.

"What we did," says director Bieber, "was pie in the sky.

"We have no set system. We're a group of people committed to honor the human being."

Huerta will not return to work

LIVERMORE — Pauline Huerta, the Title I aide who was fired from the Fifth Street School program three weeks ago, has turned down an offer to return to the program.

The offer came from personnel director Sterling Macfarlane, overriding the telephoned dismissal notice given by Title I coordinator Ardis Loonie.

"I couldn't work under her again," Mrs. Huerta said. "Under no circumstances." She has already applied for jobs unrelated to Livermore's federally funded Title I program for slow learners and needy children.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Huerta is still awaiting an appointment to discuss her case with the school board. Members of Project Southwest, an organization dedicated to helping minority children develop professional careers, have expressed concern that loss of Mrs. Huerta at Fifth Street means loss to Spanish-speaking children of someone they could identify with .

Whether her firing after five apparently successful years at Fifth Street was the result of racial discrimination, staff conflicts or personal shortcomings has not been resolved. The Title I coordinator is not making any comment, while Mrs. Huerta has a group of defenders as well as a sheaf of evaluations, Chabot College records and letters to support her claims that she is well qualified for the aide's job she held.

Superintendent of Schools Leo Croce has reportedly pledged his leadership in investigating the flap.

Co-op nursery course offered

LIVERMORE — Openings are still available in the Livermore Adutt School course held in conjunction with the parent co-op nursery school at St. Bartholomew's Church.

Parents work at the school one afternoon every other week and attend two evening meetings per month. Further information may be obtained from Jan Ramacciotti at 443-6435 or from the school staff at 443-0678.

Bicentennial tour of heritage homes

Hall home radiates classic serenity

★ Bicentennial ★
Tour Series No. 3

By JEAN MCKENNA

The visitor's first and lasting impression of the home of Blanche and Beuford Hall is one of serenity.

The home gathers about itself a pervasive tranquility, clear and bright, born out of its history and out of its owners' naturally fine taste.

Two generations of the Hall family grew up in the house at 251 Neal Street. Beuford Hall can point out the grassy expanse of a sloping side yard where his children played many years ago, shadedk by a cherished persimmon tree planted by his mother. He can remember the huge vegetable garden his father raised in the same spot before the grass was sown.

The blue spruce, the locust tree, the lilac — are all part of family history.

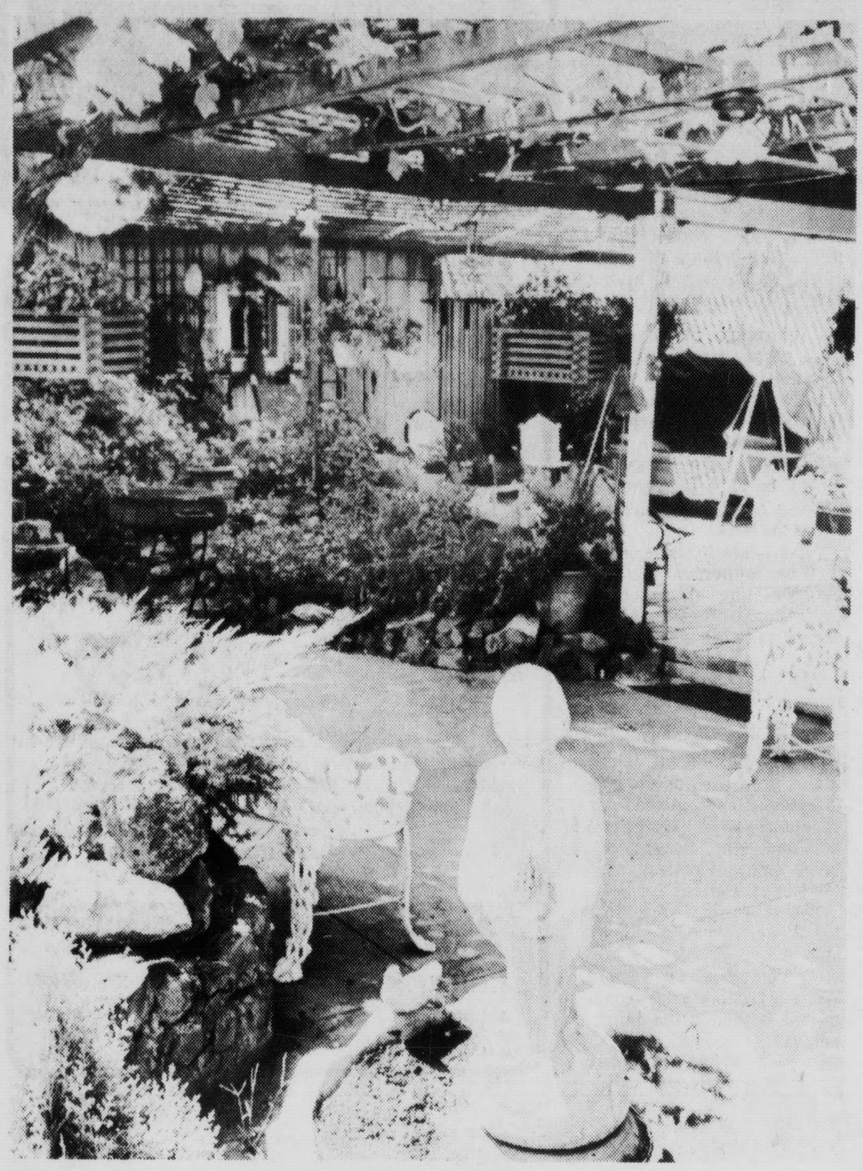
As a boy, Beuford planted grape cuttings from a neighbor and watched the vine climb the trellis to form a shady arbor over the years. Perhaps that success sparked his life-long interest in gardening — in evidence everywhere — which now fills the days of his retirement. (He operated his own feed manufacturing business, B.H. Hall Company in Pleasanton.)

In our age of high mobility and rootlessness, what a rare and beautiful feeling of peace must come from knowing that the oak tree that towers over the backyard was grown from an acorn planted by your hand. The Hall children, now young adults on ther own, can return to the home in which they were raised and find old books or a favorite piece of furniture held in trust.

The interior of the heritage home, as well as the grounds, are the result of careful, gradual acquisition and renovation. The effect is one of classic simplicity and unimpeachable taste which could only have been achieved by those possessing an intimate knowledge of the house over many years and a bent for perfection.

Inside, striking and beautiful antiques are set off against an uncluttered background and highlighted by clear color accents. In the master bedroom an impressive antique bedstead of dark walnut is outlined against white shuttered windows and solid red plush carpet.

Focal point in the livingroom is a floor-to-ceiling bay window, an inventive and appropriate addition to the original room made at the time Beuford and Blanche moved into the home in 1942.



The original room at the front of the house had been used as a bedroom, the master bedroom as the front parlour. The present plan has opened living room and bedroom to a central entry foyer, and enlarged living room space by the removal of a wall. Removal of the porch which ran the length of the east side of the house, allows more light through the latticed windows to brighten the living area.

All windows in rooms with a western exposure have been fully shuttered, allowing cheery full light in the morning and peaceful cool shade in the afternoon.

The piece de resistance in the living room is a very old Turkish chair with high, winged arms and back elaborately buttoned and pleated. Stuffed with horsehair, the chair is unusual and imposing. Also, the twin lamps, made from Japanese vases of elaborately-worked Satsuma porcelain and gold leaf, are a delightful accent.

Other noteworthy appointments are a Victorian rosewood table with marble-top, a couch with solid rosewood trim carved in an antique "pineapple" pattern, and an old fashioned melodian "organ" which must be pumped in order to sound notes.

Blanche is, by her own admission, happiest when she's in her kitchen. That's no surprise since the color scheme of pure white and royal blue lends the kitchen a quality of clean, sparkling cheer. Focal point in this room is the collection of blue Royal Copenhagen Christmas plates.

The Copenhagen plates appear again in the upstairs guest room, cast in shades of blue which complement the dark walnut of the twin four-poster beds.

The patio garden just outside the kitchen door is a sensory delight. The smell of fresh greenery, the sounds of a trickling fountain and melodies from a canary in a screened aviary, the sight of filtered sunlight on the brick patio and the flash of orange impatiens in hanging planters — all converges in a Feeling of serenity.

The Halls spend the summer outdoors, entertaining guests for a barbecue or observing their bluejay friends or hummingbirds from a patio chair by themselves. The patio was cut out of a slope by Bueford to create an intimate, sheltered area. He built the fishpond and fountain for Mrs. Hall's birthday in 1962 and panelled the old chickenhouse with redwood allowed to weather.

Above the house, on the remainder of the one-acre grounds, are a greenhouse, carport and patio. Beautiful giant zinnias line the driveway... (They're the ideal flower for the Pleasonton area, according to the resident expert.)

The patios, walkways, and garden outside, as well as the beautiful interior of the home, have been many years in completion. The Halls are happy with the result now, and content to enjoy the fruit of their labor during retirement.

You, too, may experience the serenity and beauty of this exceptional home on the Heritage House Tour to be sponsored Oct. 5 by the Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee. Open to adults only, limited reservations may be made by mailing a check of $5 per person, or $2.50 for senior citizens to the Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee, P.O. Box 252, Pleasanton.

Only the facts. . .

The Amador Valley Historical Society is preparing a series of "Pleasanton Historical Facts" to be aired on KKIQ beginning in early October. Bill Apperson, president of the Society will prepare the pertinent information dealing with historical events in the Valley's past. Jerry Havel, manager of station KKIQ is cooperating with the Chamber of Commerce in the presentation of the program. The "facts" will be recorded by the staff at KKIQ and released on the station at frequent intervals, leading up to the Pleasanton Hertiage Daze on the weekend of Oct. 10 to 12. Apperson, Havel and Denyse Christensen, general chairperson of Pleasanton Heritage Daze discuss some of the historical landmarks in Pleasanton which appear on a Bicentennial Poster.

Child observation class aids family

LIVERMORE — "Raising children is fun!"

If you find yourself sometimes disagreeing with that assessment by Lucille Musso, early childhood education expert, try her Child-Parent Observation course, being offered through the Livermore Adult School.

The class will focus in on items that so often lead to strugglesbetween parents and children: biting, temper tantrums, sharing toys, toilet training.

Bring-your-own kid: A play period for them is paired with an observation period for Mom and Pop

The class will be on Tuesday evenings, beginning Sept. 16. 5:30 to 7:30 p m , in Valley School, Fifth and J Streets. Sipnups are at the Livermore Adult Education office, 3044 East Ave.. and will also be accepted at the school on the first night of class. Further information is available from Lucille Musso at 447-1915.

Attempted murder charge reduced

OAKLAND — A charge of attempted murder filed earlier this summer against a 20-year-old Livermore man was reduced by the district attorney's office to assault with a deadly weapon .

Michael L. Howard, charged following a late night fight July 18, pled not guilty Wednesday before the bench of Alameda County Superior Court Judge Lionel Wilson.

Howard was charged with one count of attempted murder and two counts of assault after an August preliminary hearing before Livermore-Pleasanton Municipal Court Judge William Gale.

Police say Howard got into a fight with several men in front of Malley's Cafe, 2118 First St., Livermore, and re-entered the foray with a tire iron.

Some witnesses say Howard, a black, was defending himself, while others claim he instigated the fracas.

He is being held at the Santa Rita jail in lieu of $5,000 bail pending his Oct. 10 preliminary hearing in department nine of superior court.

He is scheduled for trial Oct. 22 in department five.

Some LARPD classes still available

LIVERMORE — Registration is coming to an end for Livermore Area Recreation and Park District (LARPD) classes.

A few openings are still available in children's tennis classes, as well as advanced quilting and cake decorating.

There are openings in children's multi-media and pottery classes, tap, guitar, baton, trampoline, judo and unicycle.

Adult classes in basic drawing, pastels, watercolor, oils and miniatures are still open as well as jewelry, macrame, belly dancing, guitar, self improvement, pottery, trampoline and judo.

A special class for teens in modeling has a few openings.

Slim-trim-swim will continue at May Nissen Pool on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11 a.m.

Further information and signups at LARPD office, 71 Trevarno Road (447-7300).

Schedule listed

Varied program for teens

LIVERMORE — Teens are being offered a varied program during September by the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District (LARPD).

The schedule includes:

Tuesday, Sept. 16: 7 p.m., Jim Barbieri, a former national park ranger will speak on his experiences and the environment. The talk will be in LARPD headquarters, 71 Trevarno Road, open to all interested persons.

Also, open-play volleyball begins at Junction Avenue School multi-purpose room, 7-10 p.m. Any high school student may play free.

Saturday, Sept 27: Bike trip to Angel Island State Park via Tiburon. A fee of $3 covers transportation to and from Tiburon and the ferry to Angel Island. Bikers should bring their own lunch and drinks will be provided.

Signups for the bike trip are being taken at the LARPD office, 71 Trevarno Road, daily 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Deadline is Sept. 24.

A series of "Rec raps" are being held at local high schools by Steve Goodman, LARPD teen recreation leader. Students are invited to meet with him to talk about current programs, possible programs and problems. Bring your complaints and suggestions!

Literacy picnic scheduled

LIVERMORE — The new-found English reading and writing skills of several Valley residents were celebrated recently with a potluck picnic in Veterans' Park.

About 75 attended the affair, held by the Livermore Life Center Sunday, Sept. 7.

The Rev. Norman Callaway of Asbury Methodist Church presented certificates to teachers Dorothy Liptak and Katherine Riley.

Students who learned to read and write English through the Laubach Literacy method included: Mrs. Simro Birdi and Mrs. Harbanso Raju, who completed Stories of Jesus, Part I.

Also, the Vietnamese children Dao, Kahn, Tu, Hien and Thu Nguyen, and two Indian students, Prito Ram and Mrs. Ana Rangel, who completed New Streamlined English, Book I.

Mrs. Wilda Wilhite coordinated community singing of the 75 guests, Mary Frame was in charge of the picnic and Mrs. Dorothy Liptak supervised the games.

The school bus is lost, again

On Tuesday evening, at a regular meeting of the Amador Valley High School District board of trustees, a massive outpouring of parents is expected.They will be there to demand "an explanation" of the reason and the method for recent cutbacks in transport for students; and they will ask that those bus routes be restored.

The problem is that those who could have prevented those school bus cutbacks — the state legislature and the governor of California — will not be present at that meeting.

We have observed here before that the school administration was derelict in not properly advising each and every parent of the bus curtailments that those officials must have known were coming since mid summer. That is a blunder the school board will have to explain on its own.

But there is still some apparent confusion on who instigates such bus service, pays for it, and then determines when and where cutbacks might be made. Our information, obtained from Assemblyman Floyd Mori, is that "the state doesn't care if the school board wants to make the children walk several miles. That is strictly a local determination." The state does care if primary tots are walking LESS than three quarters of a mile, or high schoolers LESS than two miles. In such instances, NO state funding is available.

The local school board's option is to provide bus transport IN EXCESS OF those minimums, but only when it has the money, or the will.

If such a policy is wrong, then the state should be notified, and action mounted to right that wrong. Even if the determination is that more local money must be directed to busing, the financial burden must utlimately look to the state legislature, from whence virtually all school monies come. Since the passage of SB90, school boards are little more than funnels through which pass the dollars that Sacramento permits to flow our way.

There is nothing wrong with an outpouring of parents at school board meetings, any and all school board meetings. But we must soon learn that the late-summer game played between the state legislators and local school officialdom allows virtually no public input on the matter of school services until after the deed is done, and the budget is set.

Frankly, we have had it up to here with these annual autumnal surprises. It is time the people — parents, teachers and taxpayers all — demanded a better accounting of their public schools, and on a calendar that allows us to respond before the students are walking to class, or the teachers are walking the bricks in yet another protest.

Red, White and You

For some, it is a bonnet in the fashion of those earliest of our prairie days. For others, it is a flag that stirs memories of "The Spirit of '76." And now there is the prospect of "red, white and blue house numbers on every curb in town."

Frankly, we see nothing wrong with any of it, as long as it helps remind even a few of us that these next 12 months are something special in these United States of America.

They have been painting house numbers on curbs ever since a Boy Scout Troop or a Jaycee Chapter determined there was money to be made therein. We can recall no public uproar or even neighborhood disturbance over that splash of yellow and black paint. We turn out our school bands, bedeck the city's streets with bunting and pre-empt the front pages for events of no greater historical significance than the Livermore Rodeo, the County Fair at Pleasanton, or Dublin's salute to St. Pat. We should be able to muster no less an outpouring of emotion for our nation's 200th birthday.

This newspaper observed early in the bicentennial game that there are dangers of turning that historic milestone into a commercial orgy. That is still a threat on the national scene. But there is nothing whatsoever to indicate that this valley's home-town observances tend to turn Ben Franklin into a used flag salesman.

On the contrary, the bicentennial committees of local origin have been quite modest in their plans and programs. Perhaps too modest.

A splash of red, white and blue along the city's curbs might at least be one reminder that something different is afoot, as we approach nineteen hundred and seventy six.

Somehow we're always stuck with the ness

Kallam's comment on . . .

The abominable bore

There are things you simply get tired of reading about.

Sewers, the Sinai Penisula and Patty Hearst all fall into that dismal category of items that I know more about than I really want to.

Perhaps the worst, however, is strikes.

It seems everyone is on strike — police, firemen, teachers, garbagemen, everyone.

And what is infuriating is that they're all on strike for the same reason and that every story is almost interchangeable.

"The Brotherhood of Abominable Snowmen has called a strike against the Dalai Lama, demanding a 15 per cent wage increase and added fringe benefits.

"The Dalai Lama says the money is simply not in the budget and says that no matter how important Abominable Snowmen are, the line has to be drawn somewhere.

"Bigfoot Yeti, spokesmen for the Snowmen, pointed out that other guilds serving a similar function in the Amazon receive 12 per cent more wages and have free tick-removing service."

Naturally, the teachers, firemen, Snowmen, et al. will finally settle for an 8½ per cent raise, taxes will go up and the measly 5 per cent raise that normal people get will be instantly devoured by inflation.

The second worst thing about strikes is that they are always "news". Whatever that is.

The stories always go on page one, and you just can't avoid hearing about all the things that are going wrong because a group of money-hungry individuals is out to get theirs and the devil take the hindmost.

A few years ago, you could at least turn to the sports page for some solace.

There, at least, hit, runs, tackles, games behind, baskets and so on were guaranteed to be of prime importance.

No more, alas, as baseball players, football players and basketball players — after a hardship meeting in Rio de Janeiro — have all threatened to walk off what some term their jobs.

(Though the way the 49er's and Giants have been going, it's questionable whether they're working at it.)

And, unfortunately, misguided sportswriters have indulged their fantasies of being a news reporter and listed the same old demands in interminable detail.

So now, along with reading about how the teachers everywhere are striking on page one, we get to read about the sports strikes further inside.

What I'd like to see is just one strike story in any paper with proper blanks to fill in the name of the organization striking, the amount of money they want for doing their ridiculously overpaid job and the name of the management guy that says it's clearly impossible to come up with any money.

We could put it on page 11 with all the sewer stories, Sinai Penisula negotiations (and/or wars) and all the Patty Hearst sightings and fill page one with more interesting stories.

What those would be I leave up to your imagination, but even the dullest imagination could improve on story number 8,567 on a potential or actual teacher strike somewhere.

Girls in Boys Soccer League

Editor, The Times:

The Loves' insistance that Amy play boys' soccer is the most disgusting invasion of male rights yet. What is wrong with these people who selfishly insist their daughter force herself into an organization for boys when there is a similar organization for girls already? Is it that girls' soccer is not high caliber enough for Amy? I doubt that, because although organized more recently, it has quickly developed, both in terms of the number of girls participating and the quality of play. Moreover, if the Loves do not recognize this improvement of local girls' soccer, why don't they get involved and work to make the caliber of play sufficient to be graced by their daughter's participation?

No, girls are not physically inferior to boys; in fact, since they mature earlier physically and emotionally, at certain ages, they may be superior. This however, is no reason to refuse boys the right to play sports with only members of their own sex.

First the Loves chose to invade Little League rather than take advantage of baseball programs for girls, now it's soccer — what next? . . .

The hard working people who volunteer so many hours to soccer — coaches, referees, Al Caffodio and CYSA officials — don't deserve this unnecessary wrench thrown into a relatively new sport for Northern California. Could the Loves perhaps reconsider their poor judgement and register Amy where she can play with other girls of her own age and ability? Then, maybe even Athenian School will reconsider the use of its field or, better yet, maybe the Mustang Soccer Club can find another playing area.

Letter to the Times

Defending police

Editor, The Times:

My letter is directed to Joyce E. Jensen of Pleasanton (letter to the Times, Sept. 3rd), and others who share her opinion that "all Cops be required to spend a month in jail incognito, etc., and this would take care of our 'so-called' over enthusiastic Peace Officers."

We have just talked to a very close friend, Paul Habelt, Sr., who is the father of the Officer just shot in Tahoe. His son, Paul, Jr., having approximately ten years of service as a Peace Officer ... answered a "disturbing the peace" call and was shot.

The first shot hit him in his chin. Fortunately he jumped up or he would have had the bullet between the eyes, according to the Doctors. The second shot hit him in the shoulder and the third shot hit him in the head. This didn't satisfy those good citizens, under the influence of alcohol and cocaine, when he fell, they beat the hell out of him and shot him in the back.

The only hell I could wish on you Ms. Jensen is being married to a Policeman, as thousands of us are, and spending half of your life wondering if your husband will come home, and if he does, will he be in one piece or not. Because some kook used him for target practice, or a family quarrel ended up turning on the officer that answered a call for help. Or a pile up due to someone playing fun and games behind a wheel, or a bunch of crazy drunks in a bar knifing him.

I could go on about the abuse Policemen take, but what good would it do, opinionated people like you only see what they want to. If you had a nickle for all the good things Policemen have done for people, none of which the general public ever hears about or sees, you would be a millionaire.

Instead of the Officers spending a month in jail spying on one another, why doesn't the public spend a month answering all of the Police Officer's calls? They maybe we would have a more lawabiding, understanding the rights of others, civilization. Give that to your Ms. Magazine.

round the town

(WARNING — the following comments are meant only for those over 35, who still have their hearing, and who have not yet lost their sense of reason. Parental Guidance is suggested for all others.)

It was the period during and just after World War II. When Harry James and the Juke Box reigned supreme. No self-respecting coffee shop was without at least one of those neon wonders by Wurlitzer. An up-to-date Soda Stop would boast a coin-eating record selector at every booth, thereby giving each patron a direct pipeline to the source of all that noise. The result was an endless cacophony of sound, a crashing of drums and horns and voices that made ordinary speech impossible, and unnecessary.

And then someone got the brilliant idea of cutting a record that offered "Two Minutes of Silence." You inserted your dime, the record fell into place, and for two glorious minutes ... NOTHING.

All of this came to mind just the other day, when I was in church. Participating in the holy Sunday ritual. We had already had two hymns, a solo, the reading by the layman and the sermon by the preacher. We had been implored to pray for a list of those sick, dieing or deceased. We had shaken mands with the celebrant, and with each other, whilst exchanging also lively verbal greetings.

But it was not until after the collection and the second set of announcements that the preacher suggested that we applaud — a suitable making of noise in tribute to those who had earlier rent the silence with their songs and guitars and whatever.

And it was then it struck me. Oh God, what I wouldn't give for just two minutes of silence.

Regrettably a church does not have a coin-collecting record selector in every pew, thus permitting each participant at the service to choose his favorite hymn, sermon or whatever. Given also individual sets of ear plugs, we could thereby dial our own Sunday service, so to speak. It is an idea whose time has not yet come.

The time for silence has, apparently, already come, and gone. I can remember when the Sunday service was a quiet, almost solemnic affair. We were to be seen, but never heard. Mere spectators at the performance of the robed man up front. And even he — except for a lengthy word or three — was somewhat silent.

The choir, if indeed your church boasted of same, was well hidden, at the back of the church, in a loft perhaps. Unseen contributors to the ritual. Background music to the real show, up front.

Sometimes even the celebrant's words were lost in some foreign mystique. The Catholics, it was said, performed the entire service in Latin, thereby to impress the congregation with "The Mystery of the Mass." If nothing else, it left the worshipers with an opportunity for silent prayer, for talking things over quietly, with Him who Is all, Be all and Knows all.

But these days you can't hear Him, because of the noise. God only knows if your own small voice is getting through.

But somebody is listening. In Washington. Where a series of commercial messages are being recorded and taped that "speak out for the guy who has less, and wants to keep it that way."

It's the anti-hustle hustle. The no-sell sale. The reason not to buy. Not to make the trip. Don't trade in the car. Even (although they haven't quite gone that far) hang onto the old wife.

They say 150 television stations and 800 radio broadcasters have signed up to carry the messages. As an experiment, of sorts. Just one small sample should give you some idea of what to expect ...

"Edward P. Morgan, here. I and many of you were brought up by the Chamber of Commerce to believe that bigger is better. Hopefully, these spots will encourage people to question that idea ..."

Shades of SAVE! What's to become of us if people really start believing that the old model will do, the new coat isn't really needed, the golf game won't collapse if we pass up the Jack Nicklaus Ultras and keep our Walter Hagen wooden-shafted sticks?

I tell you, friends, there is trouble in Assembly Line City. First the school busing thing, and now this! Are none of our grand old American traditions sacred?

I might have known something funny was brewing when those TV'd commercials touted the beer ... "That is everything you ever wanted, and less!" It was an ominous beginning. I can see no end to it ...

"Shell brings you the ultimate in gasoline. Just add one part salt to 100 hundred parts water. Frankly, we're advising all of our service stations to go out of business."

Or ... "Use our spray deodorant if you insist. But a better idea would be to wash, with pure water, twice a day. Cheaper, easier, and much more effective."

Or ... "Our aspirin is as good as any, we suppose. But there isn't any one of them worth a damn. Can't really stop a cold, and could give you ulcers. Better you should just lie down quietly, for two minutes of silence."

But never in church, my friend, never in church.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Friday afternoon I drove to the Sunol Valley Golf course where a small covey of young ladies were rehearsing for the California Teen Pageant finals which were held last night in the big, and recently revived, Coronado Room.

There is room for some 500 people in the Coronado room if not too much room is taken by platforms, speakers tables, dance floors and hardware.

I don't know how many people were there last night. Something less than 500, I would imagine.

Still, the teen pageant has had its share of publicity, thanks to 16 year old Linda Salcedo, the brick breaking lassie from San Francisco.

Linda's hobby is karate and she has advanced to the point where she can break bricks with her bare hands.

She was the winner of the San Francisco finals and then kicked out of the contest or her act was censored, depending on who you want to believe.

When Linda was given the old heave ho or whatever you care to call it, there was an eruption of minor consequences in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Miss Salcedo sued the teen age pageant and the judge ordered that she be allowed to compete. In effect he ruled that karate was ladylike if exhibited with the proper respect for skin and bones and the general welfare.

Furthermore he ruled that there was nothing at all about breaking a brick with her bare hands which could be considered unladylike in these days when four letter words flow from the mouths of lovely lassies like sewage poured from a Ming vase.

Naturally I really went to Sunol to chat with Miss Salcedo, a lass who has gathered considerable ink since challeng Rose Misuraca's formidible organization.

Mrs. Misuraca is the organizer of the shortlived, thus far, California Teen Pageant. Believe me she has had her share of troubles and with them have come her share of publicity.

She lives in Fremont and it was there the teen pageant was born. Girls from 20 cities were first enrolled in the pageant, she tells me. Some of the girls later dropped out for one reason or another, but enough remain for the finals.

There is a fair representation of the Bay Area and a couple of lassies from California are in the competition.

Fremont, San Lorenzo, San Leandro and Alameda all have girls entered.

I don't know what happened to Milpitas and Alviso, but a contest can't have everything.

This one does have Linda and benefitted greatly from her entry. An obscure event suddenly evolved into a happening of great importance to a sizeable segment of society in the Bay Area.

Arguments erupted over the ladylike qualities of karate. Some maintained it was an art form. Others called it refined and extremely dangerous mayhem.

The court ruled that there was nothing unladylike about a lassie breaking a brick with her bare hand and ordered that Linda ba allowed to compete.

Mrs. Misuraca complained that she had nothing against karate as an art form but she did not believe girls should be running around breaking bricks during a beauty pageant.

Mrs. Misuraca lost.

Armed with a court order, Linda was on hand yesterday.

A man is inclined to be curious about a lass who breaks bricks with her pinkies. One who wins any portion of a beauty contest is bound to arouse a certain amount of curiosity.

Believe me, I was impressed by Linda. Tall for a Latin (I don't like the word Chicacano and will not use it) she is graceful and well formed at 16, a gracious, graceful girl.

Her eyes were the very dark brown, so close to black that in the right light they would appear like ebony or onyx or the jet black pottery of Oaxaca.

Her skin was olive and flawless and talking to her I thought about the girls in Mazatlan on their Sunday stroll through the patio of the Playa Mazatlan.

They are slim and graceful with deep tanned, olive skin and those flashing sloe eyes which are reserved for the daughters of Montezuma and Cortes.

I examined her hands carefully. No callouses.

"I suppose I'll get them if I keep on breaking bricks," she explained. "I've taken karate for six or seven years, but have only been breaking bricks for six months.

She explained that sometimes she does not always hit the bricks right and bruises her hand instead of breaking the brick.

"But usually I break the brick," she smiled.

How do her boy friends feel about her breaking bricks?

At sixteen Miss Salcedo is not allowed to go out with boys unless they are well known to the family.

I remembered my friend, Pedro Rodriguez in Puerto Vallarta. "You Norte Americans are different from us senor. You are more progressive. We do not allow our young girls the freedom of yours. We do not like free love before marriage."

I listened and wished we had never progressed quite so far.

Senora Salcedo marched up the the stage last, the proper place for a contestant there on a court order. She was slim and graceful and, in this old man's eyes, the class of the show, perhaps the only class. I thought she should walk away with the contest hands down

But don't bet on it. There is a lass in the finals whose name is Misuraca.

Her mother's name is Rose.

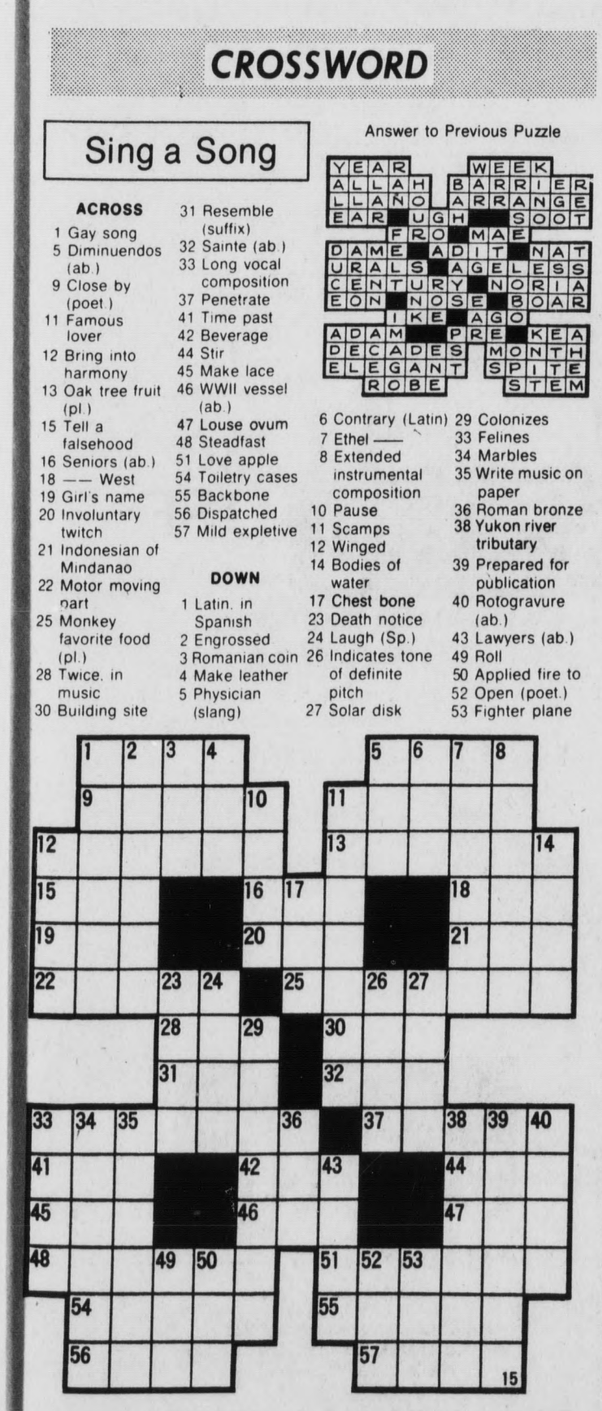
Answer to Previous Puzzle



astrograph

by Bernice Bede Osol

For Sunday, Sept. 14, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll try to use cute little ploys to pass off things you should be doing. Your subterfuges won't work.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a tendency today to take strong positions on issues on which you are not fully informed. A sharp opponent will tear your arguments to shreds.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You are overly defensive today regarding one of the family. A friend's innocent remarks will be misinterpreted, causing hard feelings.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Follow your instincts in making an important decision. Try to placate everyone and you'll wind up pleasing no one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your judgment in materialistic pursuits is razor-sharp today. It's in contrast to your insensitivity to more aesthetic values.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't come on too strong today with people of lesser means, unless you want to be embarrassed into sharing when you don't want to.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You can attain what you seek today, but you must know when to stop talking. Otherwise you'll make far-out concessions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something you've accomplished is worth bragging about, but in low-key terms or a friend will feel you're talking down to him.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're more interested in a good time today than in responsibilities. Accordingly, you'll use a mild feint where a knockout punch is needed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Concern with making a favorable impression will lead you to follow a vacillating course detrimental to your own cause.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't let anyone unfamiliar with your business give you advice off the top of their head. There's danger if you're tempted to follow it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're a prime target for a hard-luck story today. It won't make you any less a humanitarian to make sure you're not being put on.

Your Birthday

Sept. 14, 1975

You'll be more involved in the social whirl this coming year. Don't, however, become deeply enmeshed with people personally or in business till you have a chance to know them well.

Pearson edges Allison for win

BROOKLYN, Mich. (AP) — David Pearson nosed in front of Bobby Allison for a car-length victory Saturday in the 100-mile first leg of the International Race of Champions series.

It was Pearson's first victory in three years in the series, which put 12 top international drivers in identically prepared Camaros. The victory was worth 12 points in the four-race, $212,000 series.

The first seven cars stayed within 100 feet of each other throughout the highly competitive race, which had a leader change almost each of the 50 laps.

Early leader and pole position winner Mario Andretti, however, spun out down the homestretch and had to drive through the infield to get credit for ninth place.

Defending IROC champion Bobby Unser did not start the race because he suffered a broken knee earlier in the day at Michigan International Speedway, but he was credited with a 12th-place finish.

A.J. Foyt hung on for third place, with Daytona 500 winner Benny Parsons and two-time world champion Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil completing the top five.

Richard Petty was sixth, followed by road racer Brian Redman of England, Al Unser, Andretti and Jody Scheckter.

Fernandez seals Granada's fate

Granada High School played the Arroyo Dons yesterday afternoon in Livermore to open its non-league football schedule. The Arroyo Dons played Dave Fernandez.

Fernandez, a 5-10 senior quarterback, accounted for most of Arroyo's yardage and was involved in all of its scoring during the 22-0 Matador loss.

One of the six smallest players on the 31-man Don varsity, Fernandez completed 15 of 24 passes for 138 yards and two touchdowns and ran for yet another score. He topped off the afternoon with a pair of two-point conversion passes.

His feats become more impressive in light of the fact that Granada had prepared itself for an abnormal amount of passes.

"We worked on pass defense all week," said Mat coach Don Couch, who added, "I want to apologize to every single Granada student and fan for this one.

"All I can say is we played a (terrible) game while they played a great one," Couch concluded.

Arroyo kept constant pressure on the Mats, finishing eight of its twelve possessions in Granada territory; three in the end zone.

The Dons went 57 yards in 12 plays to score their first touchdown, with the key gains coming on short, timely passes by Fernandez, who stuck to short throws all day; completing only one for longer than 15 yards.

Facing a second down and 16 yards to go situation at his own 48, Fernandez hit flanker Ken Gomez on a turn-in for 13 yards. On the following play, the Don QB was forced out of the pocket but dashed for a first down and an 11-yard gain. A snap pass to Mark Sanchez netted seven yards and two short runs set up the TD.

Fernandez faked a hand-off, then fired over the middle to tight end Rick Weston for a 16-yard score. A similiar play action pass to Weston accounted for the PAT.

The second Don TD came after Granada had apparently worked out of a jam.

With the line of scrimmage his own seven, Matador punter Jerryl Hudson boomed a 65-yarder that rolled dead on the Arroyo 28. However, offsetting penalties forced a second kick and this one carried just 26 yards to triple-threat man Fernandez, who returned it to the Granada 22.

A trap play sent Ken Drew 16 yards overland to the Mat 6 and, after an incompletion, Fernandez bootlegged around right end for the score. A PAT pass to Sanchez was disallowed on a penalty and a subsequent try from 8 yards out failed.

Arroyo finished the scoring with 6:54 to play in the third quarter. A 53-yard, seven play drive culminated in a score that came to within inches of being just another "closy."

With the ball at the Granada 15, Fernandez set up to pass and just got rid of the ball before the Mats onrushing Ed Ebert could level him. The ball found Drew along the right sideline and the 185-lb junior bobbled it, then spun and fought his way over the goal line. A Fernandez to Mike Tiernan pass added the points.

The Mats strongest threat came late in the third quarter after Duane Parley recovered a Don fumble at the Arroyo 31. After an incomplete pass and a sack drove Granada back a ways, Steve Jaeger, the Mats leading rusher with 46 yards on 12 carries, picked up 15 to the Don 25.

But, on the next play, Jaeger couldn't gather in Steve Robison's pitchout and the Mats lost 11 yards and the football, on downs.

Arroyo's Drew led the game in rushing with 52 yards on 16 carries, followed by Jaeger and the Dons Mike Brisentine, who carried eight times for 31 yards.

Gomez (50 yards) and Sanchez (37 yards) each grabbed five passes for the winners.

Rough times at Chabot

Mike Zampa

There are periods in recorded history when time and circumstance blend to confront man with grave crisis, and severe tests of mettle. Valley Forge, Dunkirk and Gilligan's Island being but a few examples.

In such cases the elements or Jim Backus' incorrigible histrionics carry a list of characters to the edge of extinction. That they survive is both a humbling and enobling experience.

In soccer, time and circumstance have connived this season to make it a year of character moulding at Chabot College. The lessons awaiting the Gladiators you wouldn't wish on anyone, unless maybe it was Bob Denver.

For the first time in the school's three years of varsity soccer, players will discover the coarse side of combat — retreat, attrition, and perhaps defeat.

So many of the people who earned regional and state championships for coach John Shaw have departed. For the first time, the Gladiators may be forced to settle for mediocrity.

Were this the business world, analysts would point to Shaw and cry that he committed a fundamental mistake by over-extending too soon.

Any employer knows that you don't start a worker at $1,000 a month, when in a year you'll be forced to cut his salary in half.

On the contrary, you offer the employe lower wages coming in, then gradually increase the pay. Leave them with a sense of progression and you'll forestall unrest.

Well the Gladiators did just the opposite. They became the junior college champions of Northern California in their first season, then came back the next year to tie for the state title. Dizzying success left them no room for further progression. Chabot started on top. The only victories left to take will be the moral ones, like Dunkirk where they lived to fight another day.

"We'll have a very difficult time just defending our conference championship," says Shaw, who still won't concede anything to Golden Gate Conference opposition. "Every team expects us to win because we were number one, and every team will get up for us. I won't say it's impossible, but very difficult to do what we did last year."

What Chabot did was march through the GGC, then knock off Canada for the Northern California crown.

Mistake-prone Pokes drop opener, 28-0

Mistakes and a lack of experience proved to be the downfall of Livermore's Cowboys as they dropped a 28-0 decision to Beyer High School in Modesto last night in the season opener for both clubs.

Beyer took advantage of three first half interceptions to take a 21-0 lead into the dressing room at halftime. The well-balanced Beyer offense took advantage of a young and inexperienced Cowboy defensive line as it repeatly drove through the Livermore linemen for big gains.

Livermore quarterback Rich Palmer, one of the few experienced Cowboys on the field could only complete three passes of 13 attempts for a merger 54 yards. The Cowboy rushing attack was just as dead, rolling up just 55 yards. Meanwhile, the winners were rolling up 269 yards total offense, 131 rushing and 138 passing.

Cowboy mentor Ron Berg still managed to see some sunlight in the lopsided loss.

"We managed to play a lot of kids so they will learn by experience," he said. "Of course, we were playing an outstanding ballclub, one that is favored to win its own league.

"We'll get better as our players get more experience," he went on, "we only have three starters back from last season's team. Fumbles also hurt our cause."

However, Berg praised his young squad for its improved play in the second half, as they held Beyer to one touchdown.

Berg praised defensive ends Jim Palmer and Dale Fahnhorst for their fine play, particularly in the second half.

Next week could be more of the same for the Cowboys as they play a rugged Oakdale squad.

Turnovers spoil Falcon opener

Before the technique was banned as an unfair form of advertising, unscrupulous movie house owners would pepper films with "subliminal cuts" in order to boost concession stand sales.

A frame or two showing a soda would flash on the screen so fast the viewer would be unaware of the image, but would become thirsty.

Friday night at Dublin High School Stadium, it appeared that the nearby Village Parkway Jack - in - the - Box drive - through had signed up both the Vanden and Foothill high football teams to provide sub - concious advertising for its apple desserts.

For only one word, if repeated enough times, is necessary to describe the Falcons 27-2 loss in their first ever varsity game: turnovers.

The hosts gave the ball up four times, twice on fumbles, twice via interceptions, while the visitors from Travis Air Force Base lost the unlikely total of seven fumbles.

While Foothill's share of the 11 turnovers was rather modest, the Falcon errors came at delicious moments for the opportunistic Vikings.

With under five minutes gone in the game, Steve Tonelli, who later suffered an injury of as yet unknown severity, recovered a fumble by Vanden running back Melvin Byrd and Foothill took over for its inaugural offensive drive. It lasted one play.

Craig Johnson swept right and was hit as he reached the line of scrimmage and fumbled on one bounce into the hands of Viking tackle Dan Hemin, who gratefully stumbled the 18 yards to the end zone.

Johnson's problems continued early in the second quarter. A 44-yard Byrd punt bounced off him at the goal line and Vanden's Keith Crooks recovered for another touchdown. With 9:21 to play in the half it was 13-0 Vikes.

Vanden scored its lone entirely offensive touchdown with exactly six minutes to go in the half. Kenny Bradley took a hand-off on a draw play, accelerated into the backfield and emerged from a 65-yard race to the right flag untouched.

That score set the stage for another miscue on the part of the star-crossed Johnson, as, on the ensuing kick-off, the Falcons were caught with their inexperience showing.

As Fred Harnett's kick floated towards Johnson, a teammate, not realizing a kick-off was a free ball, told Craig not to catch it and the ball rolled to the two where Ken Riggins recovered for Vanden.

More on sports

The Gladiators tied East Los Angeles, 0-0, to grab a share of the state championship.

But no less than seven starters off that super team are gone. In normal circumstances you'd call this a rebuilding year for Chabot. But considering where the Gladiators have been the last two years, it's going to be like recreating a civilization.

The cornerstone for Shaw's new order will be goal keeper Steve Hector, the sophomore from Amador Valley High School who was a J.C. All-American last season. Only 16 goals trickled past his protective shield last year, but it is the season upcoming that will prove his worth, Shaw says.

Chabot's defense is stocked with first year players and will be considerably weakened. The result will be more pressure on the goal keeper. Hector will either get more opportunities to flash All-American form, or suffer a stinging blow to his "goals allowed" average.

"The opposing teams will get more shots, and they'll get better shots," Shaw predicts; "so there will be a lot of pressure on the goal."

There will be four freshmen in the halfback and fullback lines so Shaw has retooled his attack to cover up their inexperience.

Linkmen Juan Rodrigues and Dave Anderson will be called on to run nearly the full field's length to help the offense, and shore up the struggling defense.

Anderson, a sophomore from Dublin High School, was a forward last year, and Chabot's most improved player. He scored the winning goal in the title contest with Canada. "We've put him at link to make the full use of his abilities," says Shaw. "He hustles and controls the field."

After Hector and the two links, only fullback Oscar Herrera returns from last season's starting lineup. The rest of the people are new, including another Dublin High product, fullback Derek Hoxie.

Phil Tonne of Granada High, who played well for the Glads until he broke his leg last year, will be back at a forward spot. He didn't start in the team's opening contest at College of Marin Friday because of a groin muscle pull.

Warriors trounce Amador

FREMONT — There was no storybook introduction to football season for Amador Valley High Friday night.

Instead, it looked more like a tattered page from Joe Garagiola's joke book as the Dons fell toMission San Jose 34-6. They were akin to the hapless soul who was strapped into the electric chair given his choice. AC or DC.

In this instance, AC was Mission's 6-1, 215 fullback, Sean Sullivan. DC was 6-2, 200 tailback Kevin Turner.

Together they amassed 277 rushing yards and scored all five Warrior touchdowns. Sullivan getting three.

By halftime they had Amador down, 28-6, and wondering why two kids that big weren't playing linebacker for the Chicago Bears.

Sullivan rolled up 164 yards on 13 carries, for a 12.6 average. He carried only once in the second half, gaining five yards. His touchdowns were on runs of 54, 47 and 15 yards. None involved finesse.Sean simply powered straight through the guard hole ane open field.

His battery mate Turner rushed for 113 yards on 21 tries for a 5-yard average and touchdown runs of 10 and four yards. Turner was Mr. Outside in this remake of the Old Army classic.

Overall Mission rolled up 350 yards in total offense, actually losing 13 yards in the air.

Amador was held to 211 total offense, and a second quarter touchdown on Ron Worley's seven-yard jaunt.

It was such a dismal night for the Dons that reserve lineman Mark Smith slipped on the paved runway at Tak Fudenna field, and severely injured his ankle.

At least five other Amador players were hurt during the evening, including sarting quarterback John Sevo. The 6-0, 165 junior suffered damage to his left hand in the second quarter and re northe night.

He yielded to junior understudy Mike Guglielmo who had to battle opening night jitters as well as Mission's tough, 5-3 defense Late in the fourth quarter Guglielmo began to solve the Warriors, engineering a 69-yard drive to Mission's 11 yard line On first down, however, he threw an interception to climax the night. Mike completed three of seven passes for 49 yards.

Mike Mays and Worley accounted for most of the rushing yardape, gaining 53 and 43.

Though you won't hear coach Fred Wood say so at Monday's practice, there were a couple of bright defensive notes for Amador. One was linebacker Otto Ribary who had six tackles before the first quarter ended.

Defensive end Don Palmer was another vacation from mediocrity, twice dropping Mission quarterback Mike Zuniga for losses in passing situations. One of his sacks forced a Zuniga fumble at Amador's 23-yard line that probably prevented yet another touchdown. The Dons Roger Brothers fell on the ball.

After Sullivan exploded on his 59-yard battering-ram job early in the second quarter for a 7-0 MSJ advantage, Amador jabbed back its finest display of the game. From their own 92 yard line, the Dons moved in to score in eight plays. The keys were Sevo's 28-yard screen pass to Ken Carney, and a 31-yard dash by Mays after a Sevo pitchout Worley punched in from the seven.

On the ensuing kickoff, Mission's Kriss Yapp scampered 89-yards to a score, but a clip nullified the play. Miffed by misfortunate, MSJ jammed the ball into the end zone on a 71-yard, 10-play drive. Turner popped in from the 10-yards out.

Want a finer lawn? Then read this!

For nearly a half century our business has been growing and supplying sod for the finer lawns of America, golf course putting greens, athletic fields and other grass areas. About twenty years ago, because we were not satisfied with the quality of grasses then available, we established a research facility for the purpose of grass studies. Our hope was that we could find or develop better grasses. Today, we have under observation over 1,000 strains and species of grasses, many of which are outstanding in their performance. Several of our lawn grass developments have been patented and are available to the public in various parts of the United States and Europe. Others are to be released soon.

About ten years ago one of these new grasses, WARREN'S® A-34 KENTUCKY BLUEGRASS, now known as BenSun™ A-34, was introduced into California. Its performance has proven to be outstanding. BenSun A-34 Kentucky Bluegrass has several interesting characteristics. It is highly drought tolerant, does well in most soils and will tolerate up to 65% shade. It is quick to recover when injured, and is used extensively on athletic fields, golf courses, race tracks and other areas where rough usage or hard play can be expected. In spite of its hardy characteristics it makes a beautiful lawn and can be mowed as closely as one half inch when planted in open sunlight.

BenSun A-34 thrives in hot or cool climates, at high or low altitudes, is highly disease resistant and requires less fertilizer than most other grasses. It is the Aristocrat of all lawn grasses!

Because of its vigor and because of its small seed, one pound of seed is sufficient to plant 2,000 square feet of lawn area, about 1,000 seed per square foot. Its seed is actually less expensive than other grass seed because it goes farther, costing only 1/3¢ per square foot.

BenSun A-34 Kentucky Bluegrass is available from your Landscape Contractor or Nurseryman, and you need have no fear of the success of BenSun A-34 because it carries this guarantee . . . "If you are not satisified with the results obtained from this seed, return the empty box with proof of purchase within 6 months to Warren's Turf Nursery, Inc. You will be supplied with more seed or your money will be refunded, your choice."

For an excellent lawn next year, now is the time to plant BenSun A-34 Sod or Seed. BenSun A-34 Sod or Seed planted in late summer or early fall developes a strong root system through the winter and spring months to give you a carpet of exquisite green lawn next summer when you'll want your lawn to be at its peak.

And don't forget this! For every person who sees the inside of your home, 10,000 see the outside. BenSun A-34 Kentucky Bluegrass will make your lawn the outstanding lawn in your community.

Local Realtors Had A Good August

Housing sales have been brisk throughout the valley area as the following success stories will illustrate.

VALLEY REALTY Trophy Winners

VALLEY REALTY'S monthly award breakfast was held on September 10 at the Howard Johnson Restaurant in Dublin. Managers and sales associates from all 17 of VALLEY'S Bay Area offices were present. Local winners included Leslie Jensen of the Livermore office with a combined total of over $700,000 for the months of July and August. Pat Burns of the Pleasanton office also won top honors for both months, with her August sales volume totaling over $350,000. Ralph Amy, sales associate with the Dublin office for over 5 years, and a multiple award winners, had sales of over $230,000 for the month of August.

DIANE TORKILDSEN

TRI-VALLEY BROKERS Pleasanton office is proud to present two of their sales associates. Dennis Bell has been with TRI-VALLEY for only six months, but he has made an impressive start on his real estate career. In addition to his real estate activities, Dennis anticipates a busy fall season, including a move from Hayward to San Ramon and his marriage in October. Diane Torkildsen, who has recently transferred to Pleasanton from TRI-VALLEY'S Danville office, is the August Sales-Person of the month with total volume of over $350,000. Congratulations, Diane!

TIMES Advertising Program To Highlight R.E. Luncheon

The first fall luncheon meeting of the Tri-Valley branch of the Southern Alameda County Board of Realtors will be held at Hap's Restaurant in Pleasanton on Monday, September 15. The program following the luncheon will consist of an animated slide presentation illustrating effective means of preparing advertising material. Art Cook, advertising director for the Pleasanton/Valley Times, will answer questions regarding the presentation and other aspects of newspaper advertising.

Del Valle rolls over Mustangs

Some say a wide receiver is a single actor in a lone act within the total drama of the game, breaking away from chaos. A head fake, eye feint, half step, dropped shoulder, an angled cut are his repertiore. His mission is not complete until straddled in the end zone.

Scott Meador rose to the occasion in Alamo late in the second half Friday evening, scored a pair of touchdowns as Del Valle High School opened its' 1975 campaign with a 14-8 victory over much-improved Monte Vista.

Meador, a six foot, one inch, 160 pound split end in his senior year, can testify to that opening statement.

In an explosive debut, the first time Scott touched the ball was late in the second half, hauling in a 25 yarder from Matt Pleis on a halfback option. A play later, quarterback Jim Farnsworth lofted a 19-yard pass through the Monte Vista defenders which Meador grabbed for the game's first score.

Meador, who also picked off a pair of passes, before boarding the homeward bus, commented, "our defense was great. If it holds this season we are going to win the championship."

To compound the initial score, moments later Meador took a Mustang punt at his own 3l, broke about four tackles and raced 69 yards for the second Del Valle touchdown.

Scott reflected, "on that kick, our special team was just picking guys off right and left." Mark Davis, one of three consistent Trojan work horses in the offensive backfield, made the two-pointer after the first Del Valle touchdown. The Trojan's second pat attempt failed as Davis was stopped a yard short.

Monte Vista, which outdid the Trojans in every facet of the opener but the scoring bit, had an excellent chance to score in the early going of the third period. One play after the kickoff, quarterback Greg Goodman broke loose on a sneak around end and raced to the Trojan 11 before Rick Michels stopped him there.

Brent Smedman and Mark Van Tine carried for two and seven yards respectively, setting up a crucial third and one at the two yard line. The drive then came to a halt as Van Tine and Goodman had a mix-up on an exchange, Del Valle taking over.

Jim Nelson in his debut as head coach at Monte Vista, remarked "for the most part we played fairly well on defense. We just made a lot of mistakes otherwise.

Monte Vista scored its only touchdown on a one-yard plunge by Bill Fowler in the fourth quarter. Fowler also ran across the two-point conversion.

Monte Vista, scoring drive consisted of 42 yards in six plays. Fowler carried for runs of l5, 18, and seven, and after Van Tine's three-yard carry for a first down, Fowler scored.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Trustees of the Pleasanton Joint School District of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties hereby calls for sealed proposals to be delivered to the Purchasing Agent of said District at the office of said District in the District Administration Building, 123 Main Street, Pleasanton, California, until September 23, 1975 at 2:00 p.m., at which tine and place said bids will be opened for the furnishing of all labor, materials, equipment, mechanical workmanship, transportation and services required for the renovation of roofs at Walnut Grove School, 5199 Black Avenue, in the City of Pleasanton, Alameda County, California, for the Pleasanton Joint School District of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties.

These bids shall be presented in accordance with the specifications for said work which are on file at the said office of said Board, located as above mentioned.

Bids must be made on bid forms obtained at the said office and must be signed by the bidder and accompanied by a bid bond duly executed by the bidder as principal and a corporation authorized to do business in the State of California as surety naming the Pleasanton Joint School District of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties as obligee, or by a cashier's check or certified check, certified without qualification drawn on a solvent bank of the State of California or on a national bank doing business in the State of California, in the amount of ten per cent (10%) of the total bid, and made payable to the Pleasanton Joint School District of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties. Should the party or parties to whom the contract should be awarded fail to enter into the contract after the award and to file the required bonds, the proceeds of said certified or cashier's check or the amount paid by the bidder or his surety pursuant to the terms of said bid bond either voluntarily or pursuant to the judgment rendered by the court in any action brought thereon will be retained by said District as agreed and liquidated damages.

The Contractor and all subcontractors under him must pay all laborers, workmen and mechanics on said work, or any part thereof, not less than the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for legal holiday and overtime work, for work of a similar character in the locality in which the work is performed. to wit: said School District, which time and place said bids will be than the stipulated rates contained in a schedule thereof which has been ascertained and determined by said Board and which is now on file in the office of said Board and by reference incorporated and specified herein and made a part hereof, copies of which are available at said office of said Board, to any interested party upon request.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, or any or all items or alternates or propositions of such bids.

BY ORDER OF SAID BOARD, September 3, 1975

The only diesel station wagon in America.

The Peugeot 504 diesel wagon just may be the most practical car you can own. In the latest EPA Federal tests, it got 27 mpg in town and a remarkable 35 mpg on the road.*

But the engine isn't the only practical part of our wagon. The Peugeot has been engineered from the ground up to be a wagon. It can haul an incredible 1410 pounds of cargo—without becoming uncivilized on the road.

The Peugeot 504 diesel wagon. Come in and take one for a test drive. There's no other wagon like it.

*Actual mileage depends on where and how you drive and other variables.

Shrimp A La King

¼ pound fresh mushrooms
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ green pepper, diced
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup light cream
½ cup consommé or bouillon cube
3 tablespoons sherry
salt and pepper to taste
cayenne
1 pound California Shrimp

Prepare mushrooms, melt butter or margarine, add mushrooms and sauté for 3 minutes. Add green peppers and simmer 1 minute; sprinkle with flour, when blended, add milk, bouillon and sherry, stir until sauce thickens, add salt, pepper and cayenne. When sauce has thickened, add the shrimp. Serve with long grain cooked rice. Serves 4.
